March 12 through April 30, 2011

Featuring over 50 beautiful and compelling photographs documenting the impacts of gang violence, lack of access to good nutrition, and inadequate access to health services, this exhibition explores community health concerns shared by eight California communities, as well as concerns and strengths specific to each community.

This project was funded by The California Endowment through the Building Healthy Communities initiative.

Opening Reception

Saturday, March 12, 5-8pm

Public Programs

A series of free public programs at the Venice Arts Gallery will complement the exhibition.

Venice Arts Gallery is open TuesdayFriday, 10am5pm and Saturdays by appointment.
